Discovery Too Late, Smoke Fills Home

Compiled by Charles MacFarlane
Telegraph Editor

A look at the thermometer convinced Andy McFarlane it was time at last to try out his fireplace in Georgetown, Kentucky.

A few minutes later he had a fire roaring. Still a few minutes later he had the fire department roaring down the street to his smoke-filled house.

When the fire was put out, McFarlane made a belated discovery. The fireplace was ornamental—there was no chimney.

A man yesterday in Green Bay, Wisconsin dashed into police headquarters and said he wanted to report the disappearance of his wife. Lieut. Harry Reynolds took down a description of the missing woman and then asked, "how long has she been missing?"

"Eighteen years."

Harold Martin smells too good. That's why he and Carl Lancaster, a friend, were acquitted yesterday of stealing a Great Dane and a Collie dog in Los Angeles.

Martin told a court jury that the dogs forced themselves into the defendants' car last Dec. 3 and wouldn't leave.

The reason: Martin is a salesman and his clothes smell of the product he sells—dog food.

George Vincent, former director of the United Kingdom Information Office in Canada, said in Regina today he believes there will be a British election within eight months.

He said the Conservatives will win if they are led by Winston Churchill.

Mr. Vincent, now in private business in Calgary, spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Canadian Club.

"The next election in Britain will certainly come before the Steel Nationalization Act can be enforced," he said.

The most pessimistic predictions in Moscow are that Stalin and his party will win in next Sunday's general election with a vote of between 96 and 99 per cent.

More than 91,000,000 voters are expected dutifully to place an X behind the names of the party candidates. There are no other names on the ballot. Even 80, several hundred thousand "agitators" were already at work to get out the vote.

From Europe to the Far East and up to the Arctic settlements, "Agitpunkts" are hard at work. "Agitpunkts" is literally an "agitation point." It is organized by the all-powerful Communist party.

In many respects, the party and the government are almost inseparable, both with great administrative machines which work hand-in-hand in such a matter as an election.

Candidates for election to the U.S.S.R. Supreme Soviet are hand-picked.

Once the candidate has been officially nominated, he is "in." The election is a formality.

When the voter drops his card into a ballot box (and the voting is secret) he puts his cross against the only two candidates on the list—one for each chamber of the Soviet parliament.

Agitpunkts lead the people their elections are the freest and most impartial in the world.

Contractor Deplores Higher Wage Demands

OTTAWA, March 9.—(CP)—Concern over demands of construction labor for higher pay was expressed by Robert Drummond of Toronto, president of the Canadian Construction Association.

Mr. Drummond, in a statement following a meeting of the CCA management committee, called on labor for co-operation in holding down building costs.

"This is necessary to keep new construction attractive and economically feasible in all regions of the country," he said. "It is for this reason that the industry feels that any general rise in construction wage rates would be unwise."

The CCA president's statement was issued against a background of two wage disputes—in Toronto and Ottawa—in which employers are seeking pay increases. There is some feeling in the industry that any increase obtained by these groups would set the pace for similar demands in the construction trade across the country.

Trade Official Outlines Plan

TORONTO, March 9.—(CP)—The part business men of the three great English-speaking democracies can play in reviving foreign trade was outlined today by C. Gordon Cockshutt of Bramford, Ont., before the Empire Club.

Mr. Cockshutt is chairman of the Anglo-Canadian trade committee and the Canada-United States committee of the Canadian chamber of Commerce, as well as president of the Cockshutt Plow Company.

In his prepared address, Mr. Cockshutt said private enterprise is under way for establishment of a committee representing business men in Canada, the U.S. and the U.K. to tackle many of the problems involving the three countries. A resolution presented to the Canadian chamber by the Canadian section of the committee urged "there should be a settlement of sterling indebtedness incurred by the United Kingdom during the war, and, if necessary, Canada should be prepared to consider joining other wartime allies in assuming responsibility for a part of this indebtedness," he said.

The debts were incurred, Mr. Cockshutt, while the United Kingdom was fighting a desperate war for democracy. "It is not now a 'millionaire' among the necks" of the British people.

Saskatchewan's Budget Greatest Ever Recorded

By the Canadian Press
The biggest budget in Saskatchewan's history and record estimates of expenditures for Manitoba highlighted proceedings in various Canadian legislatures Wednesday.

At Regina provincial treasurer Finlay estimated expenditures at $320,000,000 about $2,000,000 higher than last year. Mr. Finlay budgeted for a surplus of $33,150. He hoped to show a surplus for the fiscal year now ending.

The Manitoba estimates totalled $39,135,947, or $2,006,673 more than last year.

An ordinary calico cat, which emerged slumped, thirsty, but alive after 36 hours in a fiery kiln was as object of scientific interest today.

Dr. William Orr, Minerva veterinarian, exclaimed, "It's a strange case that wouldn't happen again in 100 years. The animal's foot pads were burned off, the top of its skull was scorched, the end of its nose was charred and its body was burned as dry as a cracker."

Dr. Orr pumped fluid into the baked cat's veins after putting the cat under anesthesia. Today it was jumping like its lap to be fed.

IN BRICK KILN

The cat was sealed accidentally in a kiln at the Metropolitan Brick company plant here Friday night. Temperature in the oven reached up to 900 degrees Fahrenheit. When the kiln was opened Sunday, the durable feline tumbled out before the astonished eyes of workers.

The veterinarian said he investigated the case carefully yesterday with plant superintendent Joe Biello and both agreed that any other explanation was out of the question—the animal had tumbled into the heat for a day and a half and had survived.

Bucala said no part of the kiln could have had a temperature of less than 400 degrees. Workmen doubted if the cat could have found a place cooler than 600 degrees.

"It's fantastic, but true," Dr. Orr declared.

Crop Payments Are Considered

OTTAWA, March 9.—(CP)—Question of whether further payments will be made to wheat farmers on account of crops from 1949 to 1949 still is being studied by about $50,000,000.

department, trade minister Howe told the commonsense yesterday.

He told John Diefenbaker (P.C., Lake Centre) that one difficulty was that a payment covering that period would involve five crops and 1,250,000 cheques to farmers. The amount to be disbursed would be about $50,000,000.

Guay's Love Life Is Said Turbulent

revels she left home following a family quarrel over her association with Guay. The jeweller obtained a room for her in the apartment of Mrs. Arthur Pile, under the name of Nicole Cole.

Mrs. Pile, also a key Crown witness, has testified that at Guay's behest she placed about the death plane a package which the jeweller later told her contained a bomb.

FOR FEW MONTHS
Later she roomed on Richelieu street for a few months until January of February, 1949.

"Guay supplied me with money for food," Miss Robitaille said.

She said Guay tried to get a separation from his wife but could find no way to arrange it. She borrowed money to go to Montreal.

But after boarding the train, while waiting for her berth to be made up, Guay entered the ladies waiting room on the platform. The train hadn't left yet. Guay took her bags and she went back with him to the apartment.

TO PREVENT GRIEF
"I went with him because I didn't want to cause someone grief—do you understand what I mean?" Marie-Ange told Mr. Durion.

The waitress said when they returned to her room, Guay "made marks on my face with his mouth that showed for a week."

Marie-Ange said she then found another room mid-winter 1949 until she and he moved her. She said "who paid for that room?"

"He did," said the waitress, glancing at Guay.

NORTH SHORE AGAIN
She told of returning to the North Shore again to Sept. 1948, where she also was known as Mrs. Guay—and of returning to Quebec, where she got a job in a restaurant. She saw Guay June 24, 1949.

"He was discouraged," she said.

"Tokyo" police today arrested 15 of the leaders, who called their organization the "Ginza Police."

Man Shoots Sick Brother
ALLENTOWN, Pa., March 8.—(UP)—Harold Mohr, 38, yielding to the persistent pleadings of his blind, senile-riding brother, killed him with a rifle bullet in their home last night, police said today.

"Last night, just after supper he asked me to shoot him," District Attorney Kenneth H. Koch quoted Harold.

"I pondered it. He had often asked the same thing. I finally decided to do it."

Harold fired a 30 calibre bullet into the back of his 35-year-old brother Walter as he lay in bed on the second floor of their brick twin home at nearby Coplay, Koch said.

"I'm satisfied," he told police when asked how he felt about his brother's death.

Harold is being held on a homicide charge.

Dissension Seen In Party's Ranks

Government Is Charged With Reform Failures

For the second time in less than a week, the Social Credit government was taken to task by one of its own members for its failure to implement monetary reform and "true" Social Credit.

Former education minister R. E. Anley, leader charged in the legislature yesterday that "as far as progress towards Social Credit is concerned, we are pretty much at a standstill."

Another government member, William Topp (SC-Edmonton) admitted the Social Credit party has "fallen prey to party dissension and allowed misunderstanding to creep into the movement."

BOTH PRAISE BOURCIE

Both members came to the defence of V. Bourcieu (SC-Lac Ste. Anne) who was ousted from the government side of the legislature this week after upbraiding the government for abandoning the principles of Social Credit in its legislation.

"There is no better informed and sincere Social Creditier in this legislature than the honorable member for Lac Ste. Anne," said Mr. Anley. "I deeply regret the removal of his seat to the other side this week after upbraiding the government for abandoning the principles of Social Credit in its legislation."

"We are not deep in the fact that he has the genuine interests of Social Credit at heart," Mr. Topp said.

"What is the government doing if anything towards the attainment of Social Credit," Mr. Anley demanded.

Social Credit Party president, R. D. Jorgensen (Edmonton) did not mention this question when he addressed the House last week.

Economic Affairs Minister Hooker said the government is making a good job of implementing Social Credit.

A. G. Aulberg (SC-Alexandra) said that nothing more could be done about Social Credit in Alberta and the government was only able to show an example of "good government."

Premier Manning's indication in the budget speech that he agreed with the Alexandra member that the honorable minister of economic affairs very much out on a limb, Mr. Anley said.

DESK MOVING "SERIOUS" The public, said Mr. Anley, will not allow the Legislature to remain at a standstill in its progress towards Social Credit. "Economic and political trends won't permit them to do so," he said. "Public opinion is going to force things to move in one direction or the other."

He suggested a serious danger of a standstill "is, we have already seen, in such things as desk moving episodes."

He said "political Zionism" should be the real target of the Social Crediters' battle.

Social Crediters need only to oppose the doing of those political Zionists who are out to destroy free democracy and all that it stands for, he said.

The Bulletin, he charged, had as its "obvious purpose" his intimidation with the newspaper publication a recent article forecasting that he would publicly disagree with other members on the question of Zionism.

The obvious purpose of this article was to frighten me to the extent that I would be afraid to name the real power behind him.

Thieves Raid Dwelling Steal ($1) Cartwheels

Nineteen Canadian silver dollars formed main portion of loot obtained by thief who broke into home of Thornton Graham, 27 Wellington Crescent, while owners were away, Wednesday night.

Besides rolling away the 19 cartwheels the thief took a $60 club bag and an electric range. After ransacking the house, police said.

Thieves who entered premises of College Clothes Ltd., 1056 Jasper Avenue, early Wednesday, took $12 from the till. Then they "selected" two suits, two overcoats, four pairs of slacks, and three shirts before leaving by the rear door they had forced.

Free lunch was enjoyed by a thief who "attended" First Baptist church, 102 street and 102 avenue, late Wednesday. He raided a desecrated food locker.

Church officials said it was the second time recently the church had been used as "lunch counter." Nothing else was disturbed.

Other minor thefts in the city included $80 airplane model ornament from car of Kenneth Sykes, 2524 - 114 avenue, and a $500 truck chain and lighter from truck of Norman Creney, 816 - 14 avenue.

HATES, FEARS GO 'Just for Today' Alcoholics Creed

The following is one of a series of articles written especially for the New Bulletin by a member of Alcoholics Anonymous—Editor.

Alcoholics, associated with Alcoholics Anonymous, have a simple philosophy for living.

"Just for today" is their creed—and in following out that creed some 100,000 of them (200 in Edmonton) have enjoyed sobriety ranging from years to days.

Members are not on the wagon; they are only not taking a drink today.

They do not worry today. They worry and their hates and their drinking were all associated, they believe, and in living the 12 steps to sobriety "just for today," they find a full and happy life.

They believe they should live a good life today; they should be selfish today; they should be happy today.

Proof of their philosophy is found in their associations and associations.

Close associates of the alcoholic, his friends and business companions, note the "change" in him. They are unable to tell what has taken place; but they recognize that he is a different person.

A casual visit to their meetings is also convincing—and their meetings are held in Edmonton each night of the week at Charlie house, 9823-108 street. Their restlessness has gone; they are not tense, but relaxed; their faces reflect peace of mind and happiness.

On a visit to their club gives the same impression. The casual visitor would be struck by the informality and the fraternity.

He would note the hand of friendship that is held out to the stranger; the note of encouragement that is lent to the man who is having difficulties.

HERO of Tokyo bombing, Lt. Gen. James Doolittle will visit Edmonton on Sunday. Now Shell Oil company official, his visit is concerned with production department operations in Edmonton area.

Edmontonians subscribed $4,500 in the first eight days of the Northern Alberta Red Cross campaign. It was announced today.

Objective of $150,000 is set for the territory which extends from Red Deer to the Arctic Circle. The drive lasts until March 31.

No far only one return has been received from North Northern Alberta, $16,715 from Grouse Mountain. Bad road conditions are causing the slowness of return districts in reporting campaign figures to Edmonton, officials said.

Edmonton's clearing house figures for the week ending March 8 totaled $148,577, as compared with $17,464.156 for the same period last year.

Excellent returns from a visit by the Alex Taylor Home and School Club Association were reported by Mrs. H. Gable at a meeting of the association Wednesday.

A Governor's Residence

The Alberta government is right to sell for a useful purpose the huge mansion known as Governor House. On the other hand, J. Harper Prowse is equally right when he presses the government to provide an official residence for the lieutenant-governor.

Government House should be sold for hospital purposes, which is presumably why the federal department of veterans affairs wants to buy it, because it is unnecessarily large and pretentious for its original purpose.

There is no need to house the representative of the King in an initiation palace, the maintenance cost of which is exorbitant.

But the representative of the King should not be reduced to all the harrowing details of house-hunting. It is not compatible with the dignity of the Crown that the lieutenant-governor should be reduced to the functions of the Crown in Alberta should be homeless.

In England, an official residence at 10 Downing street and a country residence at Chequers is provided for the prime minister.

Even the leader of the opposition in Ottawa is being provided, very properly, with a house. And a move is on foot, of course, to provide official accommodations for the Canadian prime minister.

This does not compare palatially with the treatment accorded in Alberta to the person who is the head of the government and the province's first citizen.

Some of the earlier reaction, in Alberta and Ontario for instance, against these vice-regal residences was due to the fact that these huge and ornate structures were too much in contrast with the popular distress in times of depression.

Such extravagant affluence legitimated criticism then and it would be equally bad taste now, even though the finances of Alberta are in excellent shape.

But there is nothing to prevent the construction of a comparatively modest home, large enough to accommodate the social functions of the lieutenant-governor and yet not large enough to be ostentatious, on some suitable site in Edmonton.

Such a step should be taken if the prestige of Royalty is to be preserved, as it should be, in this kingdom of Canada.

And Nothing Can Be Done About It

By Webster

THAT REMINDS ME OF A STORY. BACK IN THE RURAL SECTION OF THE SOUTH MOST OF THE OLD CODGERS ARE GIVING THE CONTEMPORARY TITLE OF COLONEL.

ONE OF THESE OLD BOYS WAS CALLED AS A WITNESS IN A MOONSHINE CASE, AND THE LOCAL LAWYER DEMANDED TO KNOW EXACTLY HOW HE CAME BY THE TITLE OF COLONEL.

"IT WAS LIKE THIS," DRAWLED THE WITNESS. "I WENT TO THE FRONT OF MY NAME IS JUST LIKE THE HONORABLE IN FRONT OF YOURS; IT DON MEAN A DARN THING."

BEFORE I FORGET IT, DEAR, I'LL WRITE YOU AT THE WAGON IN THE FURNACE. I'LL AFFRAID IT'S LATE—AND BY THE TIME YOU'RE THROUGH DINNER WE BE READY.

Editor, Bulletin—In my letter which you published in the March 3 issue of the Bulletin I did not say "or course a man must not persecute another for his belief as the Israeli nation pursued Palestine."

Instead of "persecute" I used the word "prosecute" meaning an entirely different meaning. GORDON LARSON, Camrose, Alta.

Editor, Bulletin—May I through your columns express my opinion of your bus drivers. The man who drives a car on the streets of Edmonton is given no chance to pass a city bus unless he makes a left turn from the extreme right lane.

In short, they simply bent over backward, in those days, to make friends and influence people.

And yet, even then, was the German policy. Hitler had spelled it out plainly in his book, Mein Kampf.

It is a pity that the German people, who were so stupid and dishonest to blame too much on the Iron Curtain.

The Russians are not at home to visit the Iron Curtain. They don't think their parlor is impressive enough to entertain visitors. Moreover, a group of American tourists with all their travelling equipment was a poor object lesson to ensure the contentment of Russian patriots worrying along with a highly inflated price level.

The Iron Curtain is not more than a symbol of the Red Russian inferiority complex.

May I say that Vancouver will welcome visitors from Edmonton and drivers are treated with the utmost courtesy and welcome as criticism.

I suggest that some one in authority, and who has the authority, should write out a manual dealing with the situation. It would be like the right of way, and hand a copy to each and every driver, especially your city bus drivers.

Is It A Menace to Public Health?

The Edmonton Trades and Labor Council does well to raise the question of the Charles Cammell hospital's waste disposal system as a menace to public health.

The Council has pointed out that Cammell is the only hospital in Edmonton that does not burn its own waste products.

In the case of the Cammell, the refuse, much of it from use on tubercular patients, is carried on open trucks to the city dump on the South Side.

Now there is a prevalent notion that the bacilli of tuberculosis are fragile organisms which do not long survive an exposure to temperatures below that of the normal body.

And that may well be so. The degree of infection risk is something to be determined by experts.

Soviet Isolation and War Threat

There is a rather silly story from Washington about a party being given to newspapermen at the Russian embassy where the newsmen improved the shining hour by needing the Russians about keeping foreigners out of their country.

This story then went on to imply that this Communist isolation was the cause of all the trouble, that if Russia received tourists and visitors freely, everything in the international situation would soon be all merrily and brightly.

This report is worthy of comment because it is typical of the current notion that the Iron Curtain is a barrier to the world.

Now undoubtedly the isolation typified by the Iron Curtain is a bad thing. It is unwholesome and dangerous when nations or groups of nations decide to live alone.

But to regard Russian isolation as the key to the Communist threat is a stupid business because it leaves people from thinking more profoundly about it and investigating the true nature and causes of the Communist threat.

It is a case where the superficial is made to hide the real.

One must recall that there was no such isolationism in Hitler's Germany when

But it does not require an expert to know that some infection risk does exist wherever germs are involved.

It is a sense of common sense that the men who handle the waste on garbage trucks and the adults and children who cannot be kept from running through dumps are in infinite jeopardy when they come in contact with material that has been infected with any disease.

If that is not so, the whole science of asepsis is a joke, which it very positively is not.

The Trades and Labor Council is justified in its complaint and the Edmonton health department should act upon it promptly, using whatever measures are necessary to force the federal government institution to install equipment for incinerating its own refuse.

ODDS AND ENDS

That, of course, is a common tendency among those who think too impatiently for the advent of the millennium.

The characteristic impatience of the professional reformer is a phenomenon, that has been long and unfavorably noted.

And I believe that when the reformers get around to howling for the extinction of murder and mystery tales for adults, they are guilty of a piece of rather dangerous impatience.

Therefore I seize this occasion, Mr. Chairman, to rise to the vehement defense of these lovely stories which have to do with omniscient detectives and sudden death in strange places.

Logical, orderly.

To keep this defense logical and orderly, let me first enumerate the points upon which I have my passionate objections to this campaign against the sudden death in strange places.

1. While I agree that children's reading should be carefully selected, I view any attempt to restrict the reading of adults as a violation of human liberty, because it is the traditional right of man to go to the devil if he so chooses, a right in which a careful perusal of the standards assures me, the Almighty Himself concurs.

2. Because murder mysteries are highly efficacious in acting complete blankness of mind, a state which is much more important psychologically than any other state of mind, a state which is much more important psychologically than any other state of mind.

3. Because murder mysteries do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world.

4. Because murder mysteries do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world.

5. Because murder mysteries do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world.

6. Because murder mysteries do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world.

7. Because murder mysteries do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world.

8. Because murder mysteries do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world, and because they do not help to solve any of the problems of the world.

Honor Plea By Churchill Is Ignored

Exclusive to The Bulletin

LONDON, March 9.—(BUP)—

Winston Churchill, who has championed many a lost cause, has stood up to be counted on the side of love and honor.

Churchill raised his voice in the house of commons in defence of the African chiefs who he being kicked off his throne with his white queen.

The British Labor government refused to change its mind, saying that Chief Beretse and his wife must get out of Africa for five years.

Churchill says Khamu has been treated fairly, Churchill says the chief was "enticed" to visit Britain, and that now he can't return to his home.

Churchill says a point of British honor is involved, that the chief should at least be allowed to go home before the British government takes any action against him.

Khamu said today he would defy the exile order and return soon to his white wife in his native Be-chuanaland.

"I intend to go back pretty soon—in a matter of days," Khamu told a press conference.

Khamu said he would fight the government's decision on court and might carry it to the United Nations.

He said he wanted to be with his wife, 24-year-old Ruth Williams, a former London typist, when she gives birth to an expected child next July. He said he wanted his wife to have her baby in Bechuanaland because it was unsafe for her to travel from Africa now.

U.S. Flier

By ROBERT C. MILLER

Exclusive to The Bulletin

SAIGON, Indo-China, March 9.—

(BUP)—Members of a French military expedition said today that the body of a man identified as an American wartime pilot, executed by Communist Viet Minh rebel forces after being held prisoner three years would be shipped to Manila.

It was hoped the body could be identified there.

The expedition, which discovered the pilot's body, identified him as as a "large man." The body was found with a bullet wound between the eyes in a compartment occupied by three despatched French soldiers.

Members of the French expedition quoted a man claiming to be a former Viet Minh prison guard said the pilot was captured after he was shot down by Japanese forces during a bombing raid in 1945. He had killed one of his large bombers, the witness was quoted, and was taken prisoner by the rebel forces.

After three years of imprisonment, the French sources quoted the Indo-Chinese native, the pilot was killed after an unsuccessful escape attempt in 1948.

Yells Stop Gardiner In Commons Debate

Surpluses Few and Little He Tells Noisy Session at Ottawa

OTTAWA, March 9.—(CP)—Amid one of the noisiest scenes of the current session, Agriculture Minister Gardiner declared in the Commons yesterday he would hesitate to tell the world that Canada has any large food surpluses available.

Shouting to make himself heard, Mr. Gardiner said opposition members were getting "excited" because Canada had a "little surplus of position we were in in the 1930s," said the minister amid applause from Liberal supporters. They drowned out the angry interjections of opposition members.

The hubbub started when Mr. Gardiner, having passed the 40-minute time limit on speeches, began to make the opposition. Some Progressive Conservative and CCF members began shouting "liar." The leader they shouted, the more the minister raised his voice. When he was drowned out, he resumed his seat.

J. A. Ross (PC—Souris), one of Mr. Gardiner's most severe critics, tried to get the floor to ask the minister a question. The Liberals tried to shout him down and he took his seat after deputy speaker J. A. Dion gave the nod to C. E. Johnston (SC—Bow River).

Mr. Gardiner said that within the last week the government has received a request from a committee of the food and agriculture organization of the United Nations for the "surpluses we have in Canada to offer to the world."

The surpluses amount to a "little bit of cheese, a little bit of butter and a little bit of honey."

A year ago opposition members were insisting that there had to be 10,000,000 pounds of butter distributed over Canada "in order to make it possible for people to eat butter at the end of the year."

"We are not going to have much more than that by the time we get to the end of the year," said Mr. Johnston.

"In other words, we would have to try to the world today that there is a large surplus that could be available."

Mr. Johnston said "western farmers will not lose anything as a result of the government's action in diverting some United Kingdom money from the purchase of wheat to other products. He said he wished to make it clear there would be no loss."

SOCRED IS CRITICAL

Mr. Johnston said there now were no surpluses of food because the government had been encouraging the destruction or curtailment of production.

He said farmers are concerned about the price support legislation the government plans to introduce at this session. They had been told Black Sea have a total of 1,345,000 square miles and an average depth of 4,000 feet.

He also referred to the payment of wheat participation certificates in 1949 prior to the general election. He agreed that farm organizations and wheat pools had asked for the participation payment, but they were under the impression that the payment would be made out of the wheat board funds and not out of borrowed funds.

Mr. Gardiner interjected that every wheat pool in the country was aware that the payment could not be made unless the board borrowed money until it received payment for wheat delivered overseas.

The Mediterranean Sea and the Black Sea have a total of 1,345,000 square miles and an average depth of 4,000 feet.

Technicality Quashes Gaming Conviction Here

An improperly documented search warrant yesterday in the appellate division of Supreme Court was taken as grounds for the quashing of conviction of Steve Kurelko of Rycroft.

Kurelko was charged Nov. 27 RCMP stated the house had been with keeping a common gaming house and sentenced to a fine of $50 or two months in jail when he appeared before Magistrate Galway at Grande Prairie.

Defence counsel J. H. Ogilvie, K.C., said the warrant issued by the magistrate and carried out by RCMP Cpl. R. J. Saenger of the Spirit River detachment, did not specify the object or objects of search and that there was nothing in the warrant authorizing any seizure.

It was also contended the warrant showed no definite proof that Kurelko was either owner or keeper of the alleged gaming house.

Poison Hidden In Dead Animals For Wily Wolf

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., March 9.—(CP)—A poisonous, cyanide-flavored diet has been provided for "One-and-a-Half Step," the three-legged timber wolf which has been marauding in Big River district for months.

In answer to an appeal by district farmers, game warden J. Clay of the Department of Natural Resources has arrived in the district.

"One-and-a-Half Step" visited the farm of Philip Laurie Sunday and ate the best part of a dead calf which had been thrown out by the farmer. District residents believe this is a sign that the wily wolf is becoming desperate with hunger. A few months ago, he would eat only meat he had freshly killed.

The poison has been placed in the remainder of the calf carcass and in a sheep hide on the Brainer farm.

94 Trespassers On Rail Routes Killed In 1949

OTTAWA, March 9.—(CP)—There were 94 trespassers killed in Canadian railway accidents in 1949, including 94 who ignored that ubiquitous sign, "don't trespass."

The toll included four passengers killed and 600 injured.

There were 3,221 railway accidents in Canada in 1949 including 441 on highway level crossings. Casualties totalled 4,072 including 304 killed and 2,738 injured.

NEW YORK, March 9.—(AP)—Licorice contains a potent female sex hormone, two researchers reported today in the Journal of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

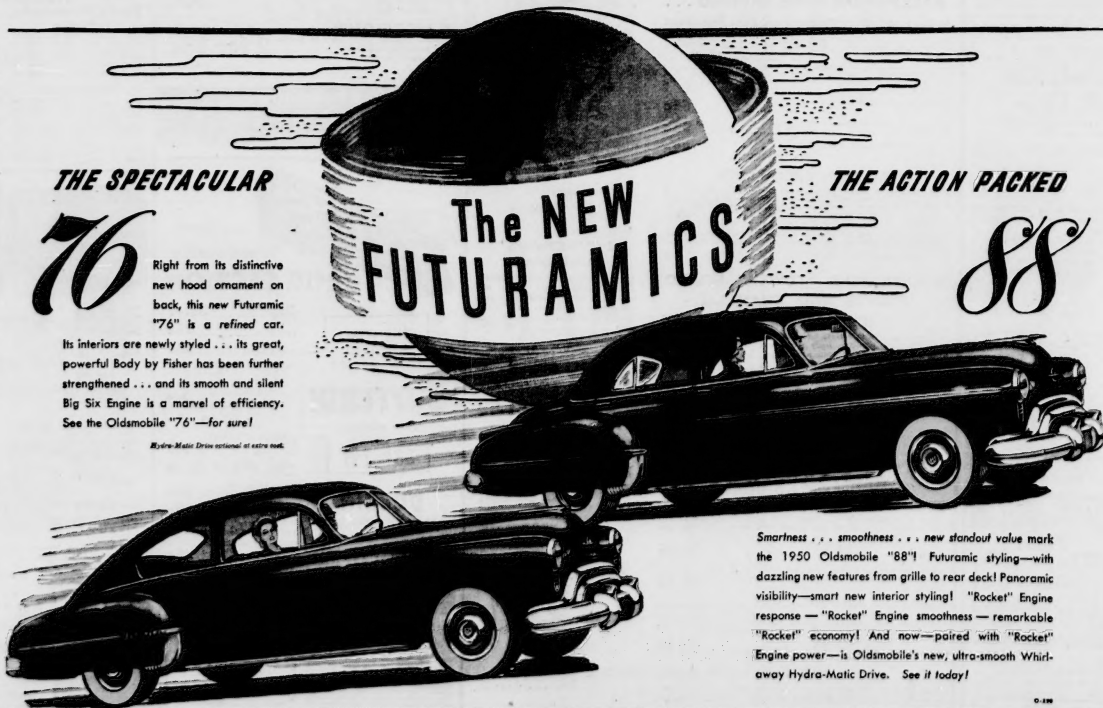

There are significant amounts of the hormone in licorice root, they said. Licorice might become a new source of the hormone, used to aid women in menstruation troubles or in changes of life.

RUSSIA TOLD FBI SPIES IN CANADA

MOSCOW, March 9.—(CP)—Rev. James Endicott of Toronto, chairman of the Canadian peace congress, said today that everyone who works for peace in Canada is listed as a spy.

He told a press conference of Russian and foreign newspaper men that the Federal Bureau of Investigation, federal law-enforcement agency of the United States, maintains a vast espionage network in Canada.

Screwball Antics Amuse Hollywood

Exponent of 'Creeshism' Catches Film Stars' Fancy

By Virginia MacPherson
Exclusive to The Bulletin

HOLLYWOOD, March 8.—(CP)—A man who thinks anything can be funny—even an asphyxiation, if you give it half a chance—is "out-screwbaling" screwball Hollywood these days.

The natives hereabouts (who aren't always noted for their sane and sober antics) are flocking to see this guy who calls himself "Horsey" and goes around for five solid hours bawling "creesh" and squirting dry ice at the customers.

They started out thinking he wasn't real. And by the time they decided he was, they had the "Horsey" habit. And Charley Foy's supper club never closed so much dough from the big names around town.

STRICTLY CHARACTER
Horsey is strictly a character. Does a five-hour nonstop show with a break. His meal served on the stage and his apple pancakes and potato chips while he reels off his inauspicious supply of gas.

Every 30 seconds he bellows out "creesh" and if a lady customer appears jittery as he swings over her head on a high trapeze, he booms out, "Don't get nervous, know what I'm doing."

Two minutes later, like as not, he has her up on stage for a magic act where he finishes her off good. His favorite gag is to tie two scarves together and tuck 'em down her neckline.

Then he mutters "creesh . . . creesh" pulls out the scarves, and there—above the kind used to be, is a breaster. He does the same thing on her hip, yanks the scarves away, and—nothing happens. "Ooohs!" Horsey shrugs. "No ligatures."

He has a life-sized blonde model behind him at the mike and, whenever the mood strikes him, he whistles around and alone her in the music.

He sings, he plinks a mean piano, he plays records, he swings from the rafters, he dives off a lift-act and the craziest thing turned loose around Hollywood in many a moon, he'll tell anybody who's crazy comes along.

Beecham Collapses While Conducting

LONDON, March 8.—(Reuters)—Sir Thomas Beecham, famous English musician, collapsed last night while conducting the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra at the Opera House, Covent Garden.

Thomas, 70, received treatment from a doctor who had been in the audience. He was found to have a high temperature, apparently due to influenza.

Elections Act May Be Changed

OTTAWA, March 8.—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said yesterday a Commons committee will be asked to consider amendments to the Dominion Elections Act to make it "fit the situation in Newfoundland."

The committee also will be asked to study changes in the act recommended by two justices of the Nova Scotia Supreme Court who ruled that the victory of a Liberal in the riding of Antigonish-Kings in the June 27, 1928, general election was void. The recommendations involve changes in services voting.

Inside Hollywood

By Bob Thomas
HOLLYWOOD—(AP)—Film producers should turn to the Bible in their search for vital movie subjects.

This advice comes from a fellow producer, Rev. James K. Friedrich, episcopal minister and head of Cathedral films. He has produced several dozen well-made films which are shown in Protestant churches, and to Catholics and Jews as well.

"The major film companies could do a great job for religion," Mr. Friedrich remarked. "But they are too wrapped up in making 'entertainment' pictures."

He indicated that movie makers could make exciting and significant pictures from bible stories. But not, he added, the scriptures according to Cecil B. DeMille.

PROTESTANTS NEGLECTED
The minister declared that Protestants have received little attention in film subjects.

"It is our own fault," he added. "We have failed to organize, as the Catholics have. A picture about Catholicism has a ready-made audience."

He said that one of the new pictures about a protestant preacher, "One Foot in Heaven," was "an insult. It showed the minister playing Woven around the highly competitive sport of speed auto racing, "The Big Wheel" back-happy mechanic.

Determined to win fame and fortune for himself and his widowed mother, played by Spring Byington, Rooney lives out as a mechanic.

Eventually Rooney gives up his job to go into the dangerous business of racing, but has to leave town when he is blamed for a crash-up that ends in the death of his buddy. After participating in races all over the country, Rooney finally winds up in the famous Indianapolis classic where he drives a car for Red Stanley, who has in the interim married his mother.

Well on the way to being the winner of this thrill-packed race, Rooney's car catches fire, but when he decides not to abandon it, he builds the show up to a climax that keeps audiences on the edge of their seats until the final outcome.

The romantic side of "The Big Wheel" is ably supplied by Mary Hatchett, former singing star, and Lina Romay, the night-club enchantress.

"The Big Wheel" starts tomorrow at the Rialto theatre.

100 Tots 'Starving' In Arizona Camp

Emergency Food Supplies Are Rushed to Destitute Farm Group

PHOENIX, Ariz., March 9.—(AP)—Authorities rushed emergency food supplies today to a farm labor camp where 100 children were found starving in "Grapes of Wrath" conditions.

The families in the camp, unable to get work because a freeze spoiled the crops, are living on a diet of flour biscuits and lard gravy, authorities said.

Juvenile officer John E. Thompson found six children who hadn't eaten in 10 days.

"This is the worst case of mass destitution I have seen," juvenile Judge Thomas J. Croft said, in ordering emergency food and medical supplies distributed in the camp.

FATHER SELLS BLOOD
"There are almost 100 children in a starvation condition," Thompson said. "Many of them have died of abdominal pain."

One family of four had no food for most of 30 days, he said.

One father was selling his blood to get food for his children.

Another reported the last dollar he earned when he and his two sons spent a day picking up cotton that had fallen from trucks.

One walked from farm to farm for 16 miles seeking work. He didn't get any.

Thompson said: "most of the families have sold everything. They have taken their old cars apart and sold them by parts for food."

Now they have nothing.

There are about 100 one-room shacks in the camp, Thompson said, and none of them has any electricity or running water.

The houses used to have some crude furniture, but that's all sold.

RABBIT TUBE CAN SUBTRACT, ALSO DIVIDE

NEW YORK, March 9.—(AP)—A new type of electronic tube capable of adding, subtracting and dividing, was described in the annual convention of the institute of radio engineers today by a Canadian engineer.

Joseph Kato, now engaged in post-graduate work in the computation centre at University of Toronto, presented a paper on a "new class of switching tubes for digital applications."

Now, now everybody sleeps on the floor," he said.

DON'T ATTEND SCHOOL
"The kids all run around here, though it sometimes gets pretty cold. They don't go to school because they don't have the clothes to wear."

The camp, 14 miles west of Phoenix, is operated by Arizona Farm Bureau Federation.

Thompson said few had been in Arizona the three years necessary to qualify for state relief. Some of those who have, fell to meet a second requirement that they be physically unable to work.

In 1948, the cash income of farmers in Ontario reached $800,000,000.

VANCOUVER, March 9.—(CP)—The man who sat down and laughed when he became victim of Vancouver's "greatest" robbery, Francis M. Hardie, 70, died here Monday.

Mistaken for a bank carrier, who followed him, Mr. Hardie was robbed of $40,000 in July 1938. The money was in the form of Canadian Pacific Railway cheques—useless to the robbers.

The camp, 14 miles west of Phoenix, is operated by Arizona Farm Bureau Federation.

Oil Pipe Layers Hope Cold Lasts 3 Weeks

OUTLOOK, Sask., March 9.—(CP)—Construction crews are racing against time in an effort to lay 3,144 feet of the Interprovincial Oil Pipeline eight feet below the riverbed before the ice breaks up on the South Saskatchewan river, 10 miles south of here.

Crews have had to contend with a two-day blizzard, a sandstorm and biting sub-zero winds.

On one occasion, the water pressure built up to a point under the ice where it broke through to flood the surface, forcing crews to work with their equipment.

PRAY FOR COLD
The contractors, Betchel-Mann and Sparling Davis, both of Edmonton, have set a target date of March 31 for completion of the work. They hope the ice holds out until then.

The pipe, 10 inches in diameter with one-half inch walls, comes in 20-foot lengths and weighs 100 pounds to the foot or 2,100 pounds a pipe.

When the bare pipe is finally joined, then strung out across the river, the section will weigh 300,120 pounds. Dressed and ready for the riverbed, it will weigh 600,240 pounds.

WELD 'FORBES'
The crews now are set up on the east bank of the river, welding the lengths of pipe into "forbes" or sets of four angles, 80 feet over all.

When sufficient "forbes" have been welded to permit the welders to stay ahead of their work, they will be carried out on the ice with the aid of side-boom crawler tractors and placed in position for welding into complete sections.

The pipe then is dressed with a protective coating to prevent rust and other damage.

Meanwhile, crews will cut a four-foot swath in the river ice which will be dug in the river bed with drag lines. When completed, the pipe will be rolled off the ice into the trench and buried below the bottom of the river.

Reunion Far Off
Archbishop Says
LONDON, March 9.—(Reuters)—The Archbishop of Canterbury today declared it will take many years before discussion will be possible on "reunion" between the Roman Catholic Church and the Church of England. The Archbishop, Most Rev. Geoffrey Fisher, was referring in an address here to recent Vatican statements on joint activities of Roman Catholics and other Christians.

Gen. Bradley Sums Up U.S. Military Strength

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(AP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley said yesterday that present forces cannot give the United States "an absolute guarantee against a disastrous blow."

"But I feel that we are going to achieve the necessary forces to prevent a disastrous attack from crippling this country," the chairman of the joint U.S. chiefs of staff told the Women's National Press Club.

"I also believe that our present forces and our mobilization base, will be sufficient, together with the forces and potential of friendly nations to win a war if it comes," he added.

RETALIATION
Of atomic power, he said: "Our stockpile of atomic bombs, and our ability to deliver them, affords us an immediate but inconclusive blow of retaliation."

Over a long period of peacetime, he said, the United States "should not expect to match the Soviet Union plane for plane, ship for ship, division for division without lowering its standard of living."

Bradley said that international tension, increased since President Truman's announcement last September of an atomic explosion in Russia, "has fostered national confusion and urged American leaders to dispel this confusion by 'thinking sensibly, calmly, and clearly about national security.'"

New Deal In U.K. Food

LONDON, March 9.—(CP)—Maurice Webb is one man who will have a chance to practice in office what he preached in private.

As a back-bencher, Webb pleaded with the Labor Party to cut the cost of living, especially on food.

Today, as Britain's new food minister, he brings the influence and authority of cabinet status to bear on what has long been his pet project.

In the government reshuffle following the Feb. 23 general election, Webb took over from John Strachey. Among the new appointments, none was welcomed more warmly than the change at the food ministry.

Labor, Conservative and independent newspapers joined in wishing Webb well.

Webb, 45, is short and cheerful, informal and easy to meet.

His predecessor, witty and sophisticated among friends, had a stiff, almost ethereally aloof manner in public. He was once described as being "frigid as a prairie winter" in his relations with Canadian food negotiators.

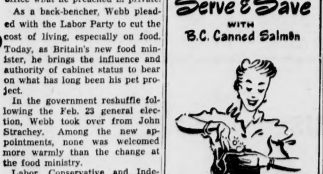

Webb may restore the personal touch.

Indians Protest Return Of Japs To Fishing Area
VICTORIA, March 9.—(CP)—A class of the northern Skeena tribe yesterday protested return of Japanese-Canadian fishermen to their fishing grounds.

The Skeena, who dwell along the Skeena river, 600 miles north of here, demanded by petition that Lands Minister T. E. Kenney bar Japanese-Canadians "from our inherited livelihood grounds."

Japanese-Canadians have been returning to fishing grounds at the mouth of the Skeena, near Prince Rupert.

"The fishing grounds are the only dependable livelihood property belonging to our native people and to our children," said the petition.

Judy Coplon Gets 15 Years in Jail

Partner in Spying Ordered Deported Within Two Weeks

NEW YORK, March 9.—(AP)—Judy Coplon today was sentenced to 15 years in jail for plotting to spy for Russia.

Valentin A. Gubichev, her Russian partner, received a 15-year suspended sentence and was ordered deported to Russia within two weeks.

Miss Coplon was sentenced to five years on a charge of conspiracy and 15 years on the count of attempted espionage, the sentences to run concurrently.

Gubichev received a suspended sentence and was ordered deported by Federal Judge Sylvester J. Ryan at the recommendation of the government.

Before the judge spoke Gubichev declared in a courtroom statement that the case had been "artificially manufactured" against him.

Judge Ryan specified that the term imposed on Miss Coplon might not be served concurrently with a 40-month-to-10-year sentence she received in Washington, D.C., on kidnap charges.

The judge refused an application to release her in bail.

APPEAL PLANNED
Samuel A. Neuberger, counsel for the 28-year-old Miss Coplon, said he would file notice of appeal immediately.

Miss Coplon could have received 25 years in prison and a $10,000 fine. Gubichev faced a maximum of 15 years in jail and $20,000 fine.

U.S. Attorney Irving H. Saypol told the court of the government's recommendation. Gubichev before sentence was imposed. He said it was the personal recommendation of the secretary of state and the attorney-general.

"You came here as an emissary of peace," Judge Ryan told Gubichev, who was suspended from his United Nations engineering position after his arrest, March 4, 1950.

SMILE ON FACE
"You were accepted by us in the role of friend," he said, adding that Gubichev had violated his United Nations oath by his actions.

Gubichev did these things "with an arrogant smile on your lips and your face," the judge said.

Turning to Miss Coplon he said:

Chinese Detain U.S. Group As Semi-Hostages

By JAMES E. ROPER
Exclusive To The Bulletin

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(UP)—Chinese Communists are detaining a group of American businessmen as virtual hostages, it was reported today.

The Americans are safe in Shanghai, but can not leave because the Communists will not issue exit visas.

Authoritative sources here said the Communists were detaining the Americans as semi-hostages to make sure that American-owned enterprises in China would continue to function.

Vancouver Man Sent To Trial
VANCOUVER, March 9.—(CP)—Simon Ross was committed for trial yesterday on a charge of attempting to murder his eight-year-old daughter, Feb. 5.

Two other charges—one of attempted murder of his 16-year-old son, Frank, and the other of attempted suicide—were withdrawn.

Police testified that Ross, following a disagreement with his wife, had threatened to commit suicide and take the children with him.

Police said Ross sat in front of the gas range with the children on his knees and turned on a jet.

Better Defence Need For Red Atom Attack

By Edward V. Roberts
Exclusive To The Bulletin

WASHINGTON, March 9.—(BUP)—Responsible diplomats said today the United States is studying plans for strengthening the mutual defence of the North Atlantic against possible Soviet atomic attack.

The question, in the opinion of U.S. officials, will be the chief subject at the projected meeting of North Atlantic Pact nations next month.

These officers believed it was time for "a second look" at the organization and accomplishments of the year-old security alliance.

Such a review, they said, should take into account Russia's achievement of an atomic explosion.

It is expected here that the western big three foreign ministers will have an opportunity during the meeting to take a look at some concrete cold war problems.

These may include: Demands of many political figures here and abroad for another approach to Russia on the subject of atomic control.

The impasse created by repeated Russian walkouts in United Nations meetings.

The difficult and pressing problem of strengthening southeast Asia against the threat of Communism.

Dangerous Radium Needles Theft Laid to Juveniles

OTTAWA, March 9.—(CP)—National Research Council officials today reported they have recovered all of 20 radium needles stolen from a National Research Council storehouse.

The last 15 dangerous needles were found in the lower town district in a torn cardboard carton stuffed with paper and matted with snow.

Five of the missing needles had been found last night, one in the bottom of a barrel basket of garbage and four tucked in an envelope in a city mailbox.

ALL-NIGHT SEARCH
Research council and RCMP of Ottawa, who conducted an all-night search, declined to disclose the exact location of the finds, but all the needles were believed to have been recovered within a five-block radius of NAC headquarters.

Authorities issued a warning yesterday when it was discovered that the 20 needles—in appearance resembling finishing nails but dangerous to anyone handling them—were missing.

A group of children were responsible for the theft.

Five of the needles were discovered last night and the remainder rounded up today by a five-man team of scientists and police equipped with geiger counters.

RCMP said the children were between 12 and 15 years of age. They said no charges would be laid.

Meanwhile, research council authorities, concerned about the health of the children, said they believed none of the youngsters involved has suffered from radium burns.

However, Dr. Jacob Kastner, president in charge of radium calibration, said a check will be made in two weeks' time on the health of the children and that they would be kept under observation for some time after that.

NBC president in charge of radium calibration, said a check will be made in two weeks' time on the health of the children and that they would be kept under observation for some time after that.

Animals Look Forward to Seeing People at University Farm Day

WE EXPECT 3,000 visitors on Saturday, said Jersey, the cow, and I do hope they will be contented. Expect to see many friends from the country.

NO LONG faces please, echoed Percheron, the horse.

I LIKE PEOPLE, said Hereford, the bull, except when they tell me to pull in my horns. I'm anxious to see the legislators who are coming.

IT WILL BE good opportunity, mused Yorkshire, the hog, to show people how the farmer brings home their bacon. I'm all for it, even if it kills me.

Inflated Prices

Talk isn't going to be so cheap around Alberta legislature from now on. At least Speaker Hon. Peter Dawson's words will be "worth" more. He got a $500 seasonal pay hike yesterday.

Deputy speaker James Hartley will have more of a golden touch to his voice too. He got a $250 raise.

Elegant. Expect to know if it will be easier on the taxpayers if the speakers were silver-tongued orators.

Sweet Triumph

New oil wells around Edmonton don't cause much of a flurry these days. Just the same the men who drilled Oil City No. 1 down to the pay zone got an awful kick out of their triumph.

Regent Drilling company took a big gamble on the drill job with the diesel loaded against them after the well was abandoned last September.

Tool Pusher Johnny MacDonald and drillers Clarence White, G. B. McDougall and Tony Folk never wanted to "kill" an oil well so badly. It was thrilling at the finish and the oil "well" that ends well.

Do you know that Edmonton's Dr. Walter Morish started out in life as a store clerk in old England. Doc says his experience behind a store counter helps him to keep costs down in running his office.

Sometimes I wouldn't care if my boss never had another birthday. So it's real nice to hear about him liking their boss so much they throw a party when his or her birthday rolls around.

That's what happened the other day to Edna Mitchell, housekeeper at the Royal George hotel. Edna had a birthday, whether she wanted it or not, and the girls who work for her held a party complete with cake, candles and congratulations.

Cutting logs, pouring tea and talking as only gals can talk, were: Christina Vaughan, Elsie Arkwright, Betty Jones and Gladys Chaban.

Printer Walter Kerr thinks Edmonton could use somebody with the Pied Piper touch now that the rat past has made an appearance here.

I don't think it very important but I got another letter from Pat Ashby today. He's still toughing out the winter down in California and wondering what ever made him think Edmonton has a traffic problem.

A comfortable goodnight to all and especially to optimists who threw away their winter underwear during that warm spell.

Driver Is Fined

After Mishap

Fine of $20 with costs was imposed on truck driver Joseph Bile in police court when he pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving.

Police said that Bile was driving south at an estimated 30 mph on 27th street, Feb. 28, when he swung into a car and went over the centre line of the road.

When he applied his brakes to get back in line of traffic his car hit a parked car, police stated.

Results of feeding trials completed during the year will be discussed.

Half a billion tons then crashed back in line of traffic his car hit a parked car, police stated.

Farm Price Floor Setup Is Defended

A series of collapses in agricultural prices with farm production costs still at peak threatens to reorganize Canada's basic industry.

With W. Allen, president of Alberta Livestock Cooperative, and in an interview here yesterday.

The interview was held jointly with K. V. Kaplan, president of the Alberta Woolly Producers Ltd. and concerned what has termed "an emergency situation" in Canadian agriculture.

It may be natural that there should be a certain amount of criticism when one particular industry is subsidised, but the fact that could have been expected was that critics would give some consideration to the factors that led the government to put this policy into effect," said Mr. Allen.

He said the farmers' request for floor prices and subsidies was not "just a grab for money" on the part of producers, but was essentially "an effort to preserve a most important and vital section of our national economy through a very difficult period."

Practically every farm product for the past six to eight years had been marketed at a price "considerably below what is commonly known as world price," he continued.

Quoting a statement which he said was made in the House of Commons, Mr. Allen said the Canadian farmer had lost $2,000,000,000 through the embargo policy.

He said the Canadian consumer and the British government were the beneficiaries of that financial loss to agriculture.

"I question whether today even the most severe critics of this policy would argue that Canada should have, during this time, export or compensation act by the act of the last year from Great Britain for her food imports—" the Argentine did—or that the Canadian consumer should like to have been squeezed," said Mr. Allen.

Sudden devaluation of British currency adversely affected Canadian farmers in price competition with such countries as Denmark, Iceland and Northern Ireland.

Under the present compensation and rental basis, a farmer with good farming land in the Brandon area received total cash compensation of $100, said William Tonn (S.-Willington).

Another farmer "possessing the poorest land in the same vicinity was compensated to the tune of $1,600," he said.

"If the request on the part of the union for a reduction was made in the 1920s, I believe it would have been brought down in the scale paid the Winnipeg men."

Mr. Senio replied that the only reason the steel workers had been out of work recently as a result.

Commissioner Menzies suggested the complaint was actually based on a right between AFU and CIO unions. The Dominion Bridge Company employees here are largely CIO union members who work on an AFU affiliation, the commissioner said.

House Fight For Owners

Two Social Credit MLAs whose constituencies include major oil fields went to bat yesterday in the House of Commons for the surface rights of the oil well drilling on their property was a "great untruth."

He suggested the government compel oil companies to pay surface owners a one per cent royalty in lieu of cash, export or compensation act by the act of the last year from Great Britain for her food imports—"

the Argentine did—or that the Canadian consumer should like to have been squeezed," said Mr. Allen.

RAISED PAY CHEQUES, GIRL BEFORE COURT

A girl of 18 who came to Edmonton to work as stenographer and "raised" cheques issued by her employer, was given suspended sentence in police court yesterday after her mother made restitution of $475 agreed to take her daughter home.

Defective Jack Cookson told Magistrate J. W. McCall the accused made out cheques where she worked and that she "raised" amounts of six of her own pay cheques.

Patent Dispute Over Parking Meter Space

City council's finance committee played a little game of patent, patent, who's got the patent, yesterday, during discussion of parking meter advertising.

The committee received two offers to place commercial advertising on top of some 1,100 parking meters, with the city sharing the revenue on the gross percentage basis. One man claimed he had the patent.

He suggested the government compel oil companies to pay surface owners a one per cent royalty in lieu of cash, export or compensation act by the act of the last year from Great Britain for her food imports—"

New Parking and Passing Regulations Considered

Draft of a completely overhauled traffic bylaw for Edmonton will be considered in detail by city council's by-laws committee tonight.

Apart from tightening up existing regulations to bring them into line with provincial law, the draft same direction as the street-warding authorities such practices as turning right on a red traffic light when given turning lights are installed this spring at several intersections, and vehicles turning on inside at openings controlled by traffic lights.

It also will compel drivers to park vehicles with the right side to the curb at a distance of not more than one foot. Present bylaw provides two feet spacing from the curb.

Drivers will be authorized to pass on the right, after sounding their horn, a vehicle which has violated intention to turn left.

A new provision will limit speed past flashing amber lights, such as now are in operation on Kingsway in North Western Arm. Command intersection, to 20 miles per hour.

On BRIDGES: Passing on two-lane bridges will be prohibited unless the vehicle being passed is going 15 miles per hour or less.

Gas tanks trucks and similar vehicles will be prohibited from parking on streets or highways and will have to park on private land.

Taxis, unless under hire with the meter flag down, will not be allowed to park on city streets.

City commissioners are given wider power to designate through streets, safety zones, parking areas and related matters.

All vehicles which bear a sign.

Auto Licences At Same Fee

No reduction in motor car licence fees will take place in Alberta this year.

A two-man delegation of the Alberta Motor Association learned this in an interview with Premier E. C. Manning.

They were informed that no provision for a reduction was made in the 1950-51 budget which already has been brought down in the scale paid the Winnipeg men."

New Ovenettes Save Summertime Heating

By Ben Thrifty

Balmy spring-time is lapping right around the corner of the calendar... and once again we stalwart home-makers must face the hardships of the hot of stove.

There's something about a blazing stove in the equally blazing heat of a mid-summer day that doesn't do much for the morale.

But we have a solution! Aren't we the crafty ones?

Solution rests right in the stainless steel heat of a fine new oven-burner operated ovenette.

This magical masterpiece works on the top of the stove and will do a spartan job of baking pie, casserole dishes, roasts, cakes, muffins, baked potatoes, 'n' casts of other scrumptious goodies.

It's a perfect gem for home use, for the lake-side cottage, for the camp house... and it's just made its appearance in our happy little hamlet.

Prices vary as do the sizes but $7.95 will buy you a fine substantial size. They come complete with all accessories necessary for baking, polished aluminum cover, base and wire rack... plus an aluminum cake pan, pie pan, roasting pan and muffin cups.

And another piece of this same wonderful ware is made in the shape and use of a cake pan. It serves. It is made of light aluminum and shines brighter than the morning sun. This is in three assorted sizes starting at $2.95 per.

More bright 'n' shining pots and pans than a gal should shake a dumpty are at appearing regularly in our local shops.

I'm still pretty partial to my old heavy skillet.

DRY CLEANING

THE KEY TO LONGER LIFE FOR YOUR GARMENTS

Your wardrobe represents a large investment in money and it is true economy to preserve it as long as possible. Laboratory tests prove that dry cleaning will do this by continually removing the tiny particles of dirt, dust and grit which cause abrasion and quickly destroy the nap of the material resulting in early wear and shabbiness.

Members of the Cleaners & Dyers Association of Edmonton are continually improving their services by adoption of the latest scientific methods of cleaning and the introduction of modern equipment. They can save you money on your clothing bills if you send your garments to them frequently for dry cleaning.

Personality Lack Is Clue to Job Failures

By Josephine Lowman

Many capable women who are interviewed for jobs fail to get one because of personal appearance or some lack in personality, or failure in promoting the personality they have.

After all we are all doing some sort of a job and personal appearance and personality have a drastic impact even when your career is in the home!

Number one—"Dress carefully. First impressions count. Your appearance reflects what you have to offer and also, if it is good, aids you in gaining peace and self-assurance." We all know this and yet fail to take it into consideration.

Contrary to popular opinion, office and business dress is not worn. When they want intelligent, capable, enthusiastic women, charm helps if it is charm which is based on appropriateness. A well-balanced outlook, naturalness and vitality. He well groomed and dress appropriately for the occasion. The better you are in your home or looking for a job.

Number two—"Ask for the buyers by name. Take a tip from the successful insurance salesmen. Prepare for the interview by finding out as much as you can about the office and the buyer you wish to see."

If you are going to see about a position of some sort certainly it would be wise to learn all you can about what the employer wants.

Number three is "Be positive." Do not be negative in your speech or attitude. Don't say, "You wouldn't be interested in some hand-picked blouses, would you?" Instead, say, "Your customers will be pleased to find exclusive, hand-picked blouses in your stock."

Forget yourself and let your love for the thing you are doing shine through. Express yourself in enthusiasm for living and thought of the big wide world outside of your little room.

Here lies success and here lies defeat in a big way. If you would like to have my leaflet No. 57, "Grace and Charm," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Adding a few drops of lemon juice to rice when you cook it makes it a bit whiter, helps keep the grains separate, and whole. Be careful not to over cook rice. Follow the directions on the box.

DOROTHY DIX SAYS

Training Invaluable In Child Development

DEAR MISS DIX: My husband and I disagree upon one point in rearing our children.

I feel that while they are young I should teach them the amenities of life, how to enter a room, how to greet people courteously, how to sit properly, etc., and of course, how to be clean and neat. I feel that I should teach them to be clean and neat, how to enter a room, how to greet people courteously, how to sit properly, etc., and of course, how to be clean and neat.

Telling them over and over again: "John, like your hat off when you come into a room." "Mary, use your fork and not your knife," and so on.

My husband objects to this. Says I shouldn't worry the children about trifles, but that when they grow up they will know how to behave themselves properly. Which one of us is right?

ANSWER: You are both right. In the moralizing of one or the other, it is an imposition to teach him at all manners. They will carry him further along, the road to success. More than one thing for small children are a lot of credit that is, eventually, to the world's better.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Only Immature Adults Will Tease Children

Why do grownups get so much satisfaction out of teasing children? Their very age gives them such an out-sized advantage that they should feel ashamed instead of pleased at being able to upset the child.

My D. L. thinks her sister-in-law is acting like a child when she teases her little boy. "She is always at him about something," she writes.

"She is always teasing him about his possessions and running off with them. Then he cries and she makes him and she remarks what a baby he is."

"It annoys me so much to have her aggravating him and humiliating my own reasons to him about being nice to company and sharing his toys. I am trying to teach him that so that he will be unselfish when he is older."

"This situation has existed since he was a small child and she cannot understand why he wants nothing to do with her. Talking to her is hopeless as she merely pouts." She sounds very immature. She probably has no arts with children and feels, none-the-less, the desire to be noticed by them. As she uses this method of getting attention, by now she should be convinced that this is a poor one.

As she does this because she has never been interested in the child and wants to hurt him, then she would continue her teasing no matter what the results.

Since you cannot change the mother, let her be.

in the KITCHEN...

By Jane Scott

These pre-Easter Lenten days, when the family menu is based on meatless dishes two and three days per week... sometimes more... we're inclined to ignore this business of essential proteins.

Most mothers take special care to have extra tempting dishes when those in-between days slide around on the calendar. And I for one agree with this principle.

Now this time of year when we think of the promise of spring in terms of gamboling lambs... such... we look to young, tender cuts of meat.

Now the corner butcher is happy as a little lamb to say spring lamb will grace our tables at April's end. But in the interval we homemakers should be able to whip up a tasty dish or two using ordinary, every-day lamb, beef, pork.

We've been ignoring lamb in our house for many a month... but suddenly that craving is there again.

Once upon a time, when I was young and gay... I was a culinary wizard I begged, borrowed and stole a handful of simply delightful recipes using lamb as a base.

Shall I let you have a peek at my treasure?

Color Is Important Part of Menu-Planning

Color plays an important role in the appetite appeal of foods.

The reds, yellows, greens of vegetables bring a rainbow to the table... and fruits serve their color part too. They accent the browns and whites of other foods.

Colored table coverings, china, and glassware all help to make a meal "pretty as a picture."

That is, of course, if the table settings complement the color of the foods so that there is harmony and no discord.

Fortunately, it's not difficult to choose a combination of foods that look attractive together and taste good, too.

It would be a mistake to let the urge for artistry destroy the balance of flavors.

RED ADDS ZIP
Red adds zip to a meal.

Cranberries, apples, strawberries and cherries are a pure red. Tomatoes, pimientos, and most kinds of paprika are orange red. Beets, pomegranate seeds, plums, and raspberries have a purplish-red. And there are jellies, fruit gelatin, and food coloring which may be used to add red to a meal.

RED DARNISH FOR MEAT
There are a number of ways of making the meat plate attract to a red color.

Pineapple slices may be topped with cherry or cranberry preserves or relish, or a red jelly. Or, red pineapple chunks in the pineapple juice to which is added red fruit coloring or maraschino cherry juice.

Apples take on a red hue which is appetizing and tempting. Whole or half pared, cored apples, or apple sections, may be cooked in a sugar syrup to which are added a few drops of red food coloring or some maraschino cherry juice.

Red pickled onion slices are a very meat accompaniment. Too. Peel and cut large Spanish onions into 1/2-inch slices. Cover with as versatile, and an full of nutritional value. Don't let these hardy vegetables be as reasonable in price the year around! So, milk-vegetables may be easy to plan but can't be left to chance. The family breakfast needs color as much as (or maybe more than) the company dinner.

Perhaps the saying, "We eat for our eyes, too," is just as true for testing each meal.

Is it drab? Or is it gay? Is it just food or does it show the master's touch of a calligrapher?

CHERRY CURRIED LAMB CHOPS
4 lamb chops (4-inch thick)
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons fennel juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup canned cherry juice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 to 1 teaspoon curry powder
1/2 cup canned cherries
1 cup water

Pan fry chops in heavy skillet until well browned on both sides. Season. Remove chops to platter. Pour excess fat. Salt butter and skillet. Blend in flour, salt and curried butter. Gradually stir in cherry juice. Cook until thickened. Sweeten to taste if cherries are tart. Pour over chops. Simmer 5 minutes longer until tender. Garnish with lemon sauce. Add more curry powder.

GREEN BRIGHTENS MENU
Fortunately, in this color planning there are many green vegetables. What a difference green peas, beans, broccoli, asparagus, and spinach make in a meal! Parsi chutney, mashed potatoes, gravy, and cauliflower taste well together but color is uninteresting!

Add some bright peas, and the color picture is greatly improved. Then add a dash of red paprika to the potatoes, or red-kidney apples or tomatoes to the salad, or a bit of red jelly, and the color signal flag.

YELLOW IS EASILY PLANNED
Yellow and orange are natural colors for foods and are easily planned. Carrots are so colorful,

Wise Chief Ignored By Indian Warriors

Little Chief wants to tell an old Indian legend, told by the Utes of Colorado.

Many years ago there lived a great chief, named Peaceful Bear, who ruled over the Ute nation. He was good and wise and guided his people in righteousness. Although he was a strong man he hated war. He knew that war was needless and only served to kill the young warriors of the tribe.

So under his wise leadership the tribe prospered. His people were at their daily tasks and thought nothing of war. Other tribes respected him for his wisdom and saw the Ute warriors grow into strong braves. The people were well fed and children grew up to be healthy men and women.

When Peaceful Bear realized that his words of wisdom would not be heeded he left the council ring. He was an old man who was no longer needed. He lay on his couch of skins in his lodge and did not rise again, knowing that the taste of blood by his warriors would create the desire for more, and that the days of peacefulness was gone from the land forever.

His spirit had descended into the earth and came forth as a healing spring in the centre of the lodge. It bubbled forth a cure for the wounds and ill of men. Here the wounded and broken braves could be healed by the spirit of the wise leader who tried to lead them in the path of peacefulness.

When the war party returned from their surprise raid on the Arapahos, they chanted victory cries of their people, to tell the true they were returning. The braves immediately went to the lodge of their chieftain, Peaceful Bear, but he was gone.

His spirit had descended into the earth and came forth as a healing spring in the centre of the lodge. It bubbled forth a cure for the wounds and ill of men. Here the wounded and broken braves could be healed by the spirit of the wise leader who tried to lead them in the path of peacefulness.

But as time passed, some of the young braves grew restless. Whenever they were out on the hunt they met warriors from other tribes who boasted of their strength in battle and proudly showed their eagle feathers won in combat. Then the braves imagined at the peaceful tribe and called them "women."

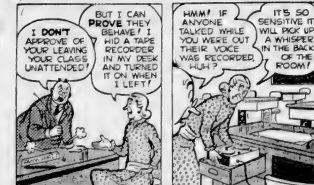

No other tribe would attack them. As the older folk died, the respect was replaced with distrust and younger braves did not consider the peaceful tribe as worthy opponents in battle.

To the north lived the fiercest nation of Arapahos. Before the days of Peaceful Bear, many stories were told of the bloody battles between Arapahos and Ute tribes. The headstrong braves listened to those stories until at last they decided to attack the warrior nation.

Long and earnestly Peaceful Bear cautioned against the attack. He told his men of the peace and contentment that had reigned through their village for the past years and begged them not spill the blood of their neighbors.

But the warriors only laughed at the old chief. Soon the angry heart of the drum was heard, and the braves painted themselves in the bright colors and dressed in the war bonnets of their ancestors.

Uncle Wiggily's Bedtime Story

Bunty the orphan rabbit was going to make some carrot pancakes in the kitchen of Uncle Wiggily's sky auto. But when Greene the frog, sitting on the running board, whispered to her in a hoarse voice, bunty dropped the bowl of carrot pancake batter and shouted:

"Uncle Wiggily! Uncle Wiggily!"

"Yes, Bunty, what is wrong?" asked the good-natured, smiling old man out of his bedroom in the sedan part of the sky auto.

"My dear Bunty! Don't tell me that you spilled the carrot pancake batter on my little croaking friend Greene the frog!"

"No, Uncle Wiggily, I didn't do it," answered Bunty. "Greene is all right—that is, he has exactly all right—but he's sitting on the running board of my sky auto and he's too hot!"

"What do you mean—It's too hot?" asked Uncle Wiggily as he twinkled his pink nose. "Greene is too hot for me. He is going to roast all the frogs are going to roast. I will cure their colds."

"How can you do this?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"With hot aniseed tea!" beamed Uncle Bunty. "I will make hot aniseed tea! I will get out the king and queen and back the king and queen before the king and queen. There will be Jug a Jug Day. Wait until I make hot aniseed tea!"

What happened next will be told tomorrow. If the cabin had will please stop honking on the head of the pin instead of playing tag with the door mat.

Smoky Lake Well Gets Second Test

In the area around Smoky Lake, about 30 miles northeast of the Redwater field, Standard is planning back its Smoky Lake No. 1 well for a test of the D-2 section.

Current bottom of the well is 3,600 feet. The Smoky well showed a bit of staining in the D-2 section at that time, so a test was not run, because the plugging back now.

Ten miles southwest of the Standard venture, the Barnsdall group drilled its South Smoky Lake No. 1 dry hole and 15 miles to the northwest, Imperial got a gas well at its Figure Lake No. 1 well.

Fifty miles northwest of the Smoky Lake well, Standard has spudded its second Meadowbrook well and it is now at 270 feet.

Imperial OK tested three of its latest wells yesterday, Jareva No. 1, 30 miles northeast of the Jareva field, and Jareva No. 2, 30 miles northeast of the Jareva field.

The test at Skaro was also 30 miles northeast of the Jareva field, and the fourth well, No. 3, is being drilled at 270 feet.

In the southeast end of the Redwater field, the Royall-Triad group has drilling operations underway at the first three of its 12 wells which it bought last month for over $400,000.

Royall-Triad No. 13-36 and No. 13-37, both at 410 feet, have run surface pipe, while Redwater No. 13-36 was tested yesterday.

In the southeast Redwater extension quarter, has been plugged back to 2,500 feet for reworking, and a quarter mile eastward, No. 12-8 is standing at 2,500 feet.

The well producing to give five oil wells since its discovery last spring.

Combust No. 16, the southwest off to the discovery, is at 4,000 feet, and the fourth well, No. 17, is being drilled at 2,500 feet.

In the southwest end of the field, the B.A. Leduc-Leslie's team is drilling at 4,714 feet, and in the south end, Leduc, Home-Leduc No. 24 is reworking at 5,100 feet.

Canadian Wheat Stocks Show Drop During Week

WINNIPEG, March 9.—(CP)—Canadian wheat supplies in store or in transit at North American positions for the week ended March 2 totalled 317,200,000 bushels compared with 348,800,000 bushels a week earlier and 341,000,000 bushels a year ago.

The board of grain commissioners also announced today that a moderate advance was noted in Canadian overseas wheat clearance—210,000 bushels—from the previous week, 370,000 bushels.

LONDON.—(Reuters)—Japanese bonds slumped on the London Stock Exchange today. Heavy marking-down followed the news of Japanese government bonds on nearly all allocations of sterling for sterling area. Losses were between 3 and 4 points.

Home politics remained the major influence in other sections.

WINNIPEG.—(CP)—Good commercial demand contributed to a good time in oats and barley at mid-session today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Offerings were moderate to light, and prices responded to the buying which included demand from shippers and exporters. Some light American selling was indicated in oats.

Rye was mostly of a local nature with prices showing a slightly easier tone. Flax dealings were flimsy. Trade fell off in activity.

NEW YORK.—(CP)—The Canadian dollar was unchanged at a discount of 9 1/2 per cent in terms of United States funds in mid-day foreign exchange dealings today. The pound sterling was unchanged at 28 3/8.

MONTREAL.—Profits of Bathurst Power & Paper Company.
